The best figure skaters in the world in the most beautiful ice stadium in Europe

On the 11th and 12th February the Eisgala Davos presents the best in the world in the show premiere "World's Best". In attendance are the newly crowned European champions; Sarah Meier (Switzerland) and Aljona Savchenko/Robin Szolkowy (Germany). In addition, Olympic Games winners Xue Shen/Hongbo Zhao (China) and Shizuka Arakawa (Japan) are appearing as the first Asian skaters in Davos.

The collection of medals in international competitions is impressive: a total of 62 medals won in Olympic Games, world championships and continental competitions by the stars of the Eisgala Davos 2011. The most recent successes celebrated at the European Championships in Bern by Sarah Meier, Aljona Savchenko and Robin Szolkowy as well as Sinead and John Kerr (United Kingdom).

Premiers of the Olympic winners

Also the other champions appearing in the "World's Best" read like a "who's who" of figure skating: in attendance are Xue Shen/Hongbo Zhao (pairs skating Olympic Champions 2010), Evgeny Plushenko (Olympic Champion 2006), Shizuka Arakawa (Olympic Champion 2006), Isabelle Delobel/Olivier Schoenfelder (Ice Dancing World Champions 2008) and Stéphane Lambiel (World Champion 2005/2006).

The Chinese Xue Shen and Hongbo Zhao are described by experts as one of the best pairs of all time. In addition to their titles, they also hold the world record for the highest total score. Evgeny Plushenko is one of the most charismatic, and with a total of three Olympic medals (1 gold, 2 silver), also one of the most successful athletes. Shizuka Arakawa, meanwhile, entered the history books in 2006 by winning the first Olympic gold medal for the Japanese figure skating federation.

Also present at the big players' concert is the Luxembourger Erin Fleur Maxwell, known as the Pirouette Queen as well as the Swiss skaters Tomi Pulkkinen and Moris Pfeifhofer.
